The Total Dealings Over Half a Million.

Philadelphia's Ex-City Treasurer Digs Deep in the Pot of Wealth-Items.

PHILADELPHIA, July 16 .- Experts appointed to-investigate the late city treasurer Bardsley made a detailed report to the mayor today. It shows a total balance due the state and city of $1,594,551. Against this is credited deposits in various banks to May 30, last, $919,673, Keystone due bills $925,000, and Seystone due bills $925,000, and Se Keystone Bank checks payed by Bardsley to high license. This evening a mass in excess of city fund account $196,043, meeting was held at which addresses were made by Rev. Joseph Cook and lev's accounts $553,835. In addition to this deficency interest which Bardsley received from vaious banks, firms and individuals, together with dividends on stock and securities in which he invested with public money, amounting to at least $225,000, should be added, making the grand total of the money misappropriated $778,835, as to the credit of $925, 000, represented by the Keystone due bills. Experts find more or less evidence of payments made from time to time by Bardsley to the President of the bank, which may make up this amount. Due bills are irregularly numbered and dated in Bardsley's desk, creates suspicion as to their genuineness.

Public money to which he had no title was taken by him and handed over to Keystone bank or its president. For no legislature use but apparently for the personal advantage and to obtain a higher rate of interest than he received paid by the Keystone bank $1,000 each month, commencing in January 1889 and continuing regularly to September 1890. Making a total of $21,000. This tion of the current in each case. sun was regularly paid in addition to the interest which he received on state money and appears to represent three per cent, on the limit of $400,000 of the city deposit. On a page showing rebates received from newspapers in which advertising was done in 1889 amounting to $16,289, appears these entries: "Less amount paid to H. N. Craffin $200. One half to Thomas McCamant, $7,144.50; one half to J. B. $7,144.50."

In 1890 and 1891, newspaper rebates were deposited to the crebit of Baidel aggregates $202,493. Thomas McCam-ant,mentioned in Bardsley's check above. is Auditor General of Pennsylvania. Further statement of Bardsley's speculation shows he invested $1,116,663 n the stock market. Upon this total well be increased by $100,000 of Baltimore traction bonds which Bardsley gave Marsh to help the Keystone Bank out of one of its "temporary predicaments." A division of spoils with ex-General McCamant as noted above, creates much interest.
